

PRESS RELEASE

Date: For immediate release

Title: Green to the power of two

Orthopaedic Innovation Limited, part of the Medsmart Solutions family of companies, have formed a strategic partnership with Andersen Caledonia, one of the U.K.'s leading suppliers of infection control services.

The companies will be working closely together in the very near future on a project to recover SmartPower™ single use, disposable surgical power tools from hospitals, decontaminate them and recycle the component parts. These single use products, developed and produced by Orthopaedic Innovation are designed to be fully disposable, however, in line with the company's stringent environmental policy there is a commitment to recovering these products and recycling them wherever possible.

Andersen Caledonia are a respected supplier of sterilisation, microbial testing and environmental services to the NHS and to the wider medical community both in the UK and Europe, as such they more than meet the criteria for this particular project.

Both companies are looking forward to working together on this major project and on future ventures.
